FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Metaphysical New Fiction from Terra Nova Books

“In smart and elegant language, Hays deftly weaves equal parts of science, romance, adventure, and fantasy into a captivating novel that invites the reader to consider the interconnectedness of the past, present, and future.”

—Linda Durham, Founder/
Director, The Wonder Institute

NOVEMBER 1, 2015: SANTA FE, NM—
Incarnation, a new novel by Laura Davis Hays, offers an intriguing story of a young scientist in Santa Fe whose memories of an earlier lifetime in Atlantis are in conflict with her rational views. (ISBN 978-1-938288-44-9, 388 pages, $26.95, paperback) As the memories continue to interfere with her life and loves, she seeks help in understanding their source and relevance to her life.

In addition to presenting the concept of earlier lifetimes, the book brings in the ethics of scientific research, love, and revenge as the characters play out their earlier relationships and conflicts in a sea of rising emotions that almost overwhelm them. The author presents an exciting story that challenges the mind and heart.

This work is the first novel of Laura Davis Hays, the child of a theoretical physicist. She is also working on a forthcoming fantasy series, the Atlantis Material. The book is published by Terra Nova Books, a small independent publisher in Santa Fe, New Mexico (www.TerraNovaBooks.com) that specializes in fiction, creative nonfiction, cookbooks, and themes of the Southwest.
